

Aliah Liliana Duckworth

Aliah Liliana Duckworth is a student at Shorewood High School. She enjoys getting involved in community activities.

Aliah has a strong commitment to community by volunteering with various organizations: Call to Action Catholics for Equality & Justice; and the Interfaith Conference of Greater Milwaukee. She has also assisted the City of Milwaukee's 15th District Alderman Russell Stamper in a wide variety of community activities.

Other volunteer experiences have included participating in neighborhood improvement events, promoting intergenerational contacts with and for elderly residents, participating in community clean ups, as well as other efforts that promote the value of an inclusive and diverse community.

Aliah enjoys reading, creating, and reciting poetry. Aliah is currently in the process of having her first kids book published.

She has served as an Intern for the Democratic Party, and as a volunteer teacher's assistant for the Shorewood School District.

Aliah intends to pursue a career as a veterinarian – a choice that offers an opportunity to showcase her love and respect for animals.

Please join UMOS in congratulating Aliah Liliana Duckworth as the 2020 UMOS Hispanic Youth of the Year.
